

Veterans Business Outreach Center of Syracuse University

Hello!

My name is Jeff Jackson and I am the director of the new Veterans Business Outreach Center (VBOC) at Syracuse University. VBOCs work in concert with the U.S. Small Business Administration, state, and community partners to focus on business and technology development as well as e-commerce. Whether you are a veteran who is thinking about working for yourself or a veteran who is currently running your own small business, VBOC can help you! We provide services for vets and their spouses for all of New England.
